Lynne loved her Lord and family above all things. After graduation from Carlow University in Pittsburgh, she was married, taught school, raised a family and pursued a faith-based life offering unconditional love, friendship, guidance and laughter to everyone she met. Lynne Ann Waldron forced her way into my life. At 23, I was a horribly broken, orphaned drug addict. Walled off from the world and most people, She and I worked at the same restaurant. Lynne Anne saw something in me that I could not see in myself. And she refused to let me be. She came after me and after me and eventually kicked down the wall and came in to my life. Only and only wanting to be my sister in Christ. That's it, She talked of Christ and his love for us. I wanted nothing to do with it. But eventually, after months and months and months and months of Christian council, she convinced me to go to a very special service in Castle, Shannon, PA, where the minister took a lightning quick interest in me for reasons only God knows. As soon as he closed, he came straight up to us and engaged us and asked us if we would come back the next week. He is the one that finally brought me to Jesus Christ and my life has never been the same. Also because of Lynne An impending catastrophic back surgery would have left me crippled, I am convinced it, but Lynne finally convinced me to see her chiropractor I was terrified. But eventually, I trusted her and trusted him, and he saved me from that surgery and changed my life, and I became a chiropractor as result; Offering my family, a standard of living that I could not have ever imagined while helping thousands and thousands of people back to health.... All because of Lynne. Truly one of Gods children. I have so missed and will continue to miss my friend.

I met Lynne at church and we had an instant connection. Our kids also went to the same school; St. Luke's Lutheran in Oviedo. Every Christmas for many years, Lynne was our Lead Angel in the live nativity program we hold for the community. She was certainly in the right role! We had a few years when she couldn't do the role and it wasn't the same without her! She got stronger and was on the rebound when she asked me if she could fill the role again. Without hesitation, I moved people around and she was glowing, even without the lighting being cast her way. When Lynne knew she wasn't going to be able to fulfill the role any longer, we had a long phone conversation and remember her saying "God needs me to rest and I don't want to". That was just like Lynne, tho, always thinking about others before herself. I'm thankful our paths crossed, a friendship grew and a Lead Angel she'll forever be! Paula Bass

One of my earliest and favorite memories of cousin Lynne was when I was visiting Lesnett Road. I would watch Lynne get ready for a date. She was in high school and I was just a squirt. We would spend hours in the hall bathroom trying on make up & fixing our hair ! She was better to me than a big sister, always loving, kind & so much fun!! Then when she got back from the date which was pretty late, she would make us fried baloney & cheese sandwiches with pickles!! I will really miss our long phone conversations & texts about our Moms- the Curran girls, Jesus, scripture, recipes, decorating, Ireland & our kids!! But I will see her again one day! ❤️🙏🍀

In the late 1960's, when I was 9 and Lynne was 13, our family could finally afford an annual Florida vacation. Driving to Florida from Pgh in dad's four-door Chevy sedan for 20+ hours over the course of two days was an adventure. I sat in the front seat between mom and dad; "close to the action on the road." Lynne set-up what appeared to be a small apartment in the back seat that housed all manor of fashion magazines, books, pillows, blankets, drinks, snacks and outfits for any occasion. I didn't pretend to understand it but I was just a 9 year-old kid with a baseball glove. Dad with his Rand McNally spread across the dashboard and mom always at the ready with pre-made snacks and drinks, we were road-ready! Somehow, dad seemed to know where every Stuckeys Restaurant & Gas Combo spot was located on the endless Interstate 95. And he was smart enough to give everyone a 15 minute "heads-up" before we made our next Stuckey's pit stop. I used to marvel at the sudden surge of activity in the backseat during those 15 minutes prior to our Stuckey's arrival. Not sure of exactly what was going on, I did notice various activities that included things like hair brushes, suit case zipper noises, wash cloths, make-up cases and more. Mom always seemed to get my attention for at least 10 of those 15 minutes with some story about a family member, sporting event or, "hey, let's count the Chevrolets!" Inevitably, we would arrive at the Stuckeys parking lot. I would scramble out of the car thinking, "milkshake" and then, Shazam! Who is this movie star emerging from the back seat of dad's Chevy? And where is Lynne? The rest, as they say, is history. My dear sister was and forever will be, one of a kind! Beyond compare. 🍌🍀💚 KRW

My friend, I will miss you forever. Although we have not lived in the same state for over 30 years, each time I talked to you it felt like it was just yesterday that we saw each other. So many memories created throughout the years - working together at Stouffer's in Pittsburgh, meeting for weekends in Naples, watching All My Children recorded videos while eating chicken noodle soup and homemade ice cream sandwiches, walks on the beach, talking about each other's families as we married and had children, keeping each other sane and loved, and much more. You will be missed. I love you, Diane
