My Uncle, My Godfather, and one of the reasons I went to the Army. He was in during the Cold War in Germany before I was a thought. Then, 30 plus years later I was in Germany when the walls came down as a young officer. A hard working man and always was honest and filled with love when he gave me advice. And, to this day I have the coolest train he got me for Christmas when I was young. He also asked me if I wanted to borrow his car for PROM. I said I could not borrow his T-Bird and he laughed. "No, the Lincoln." R.I.P. Uncle Elmer.... God Bless you Soldier!
