Grumppa you sure are missed. I can say you were so hardheaded if it wasn't bout trains you didn't want to hear it unless it was food, ice cream, or sweets then it was not important to you and you didn't want to hear it. Never met someone who thought Jimmy deans breakfast bowls were bottomless or should be. I'll never forget our trip to horse shoe curve it was so neat and you were like a little kid in a candy store to the point you used every bit of your energy up that me and two guys for the park there had to carry you down all them steps cause there lift was down for service. You acted like we were going to slow for your liking but we made it down that was alot of steps lol. We sure have had our great times and some not so great but I sure hope you can forgive me for those. I love you grump pa miss you so much the house will never be the same.
