I am Tom's youngest child. My name is Kate. I took over daddy's title abstracting business in August post-surgery. I always say jokingly that I am my daddy's favorite son (yes I am his daughter) but he got me into watching wrestling, drinking beer, and manly things we won't talk about haha. My favorite memories with him are on a golf course. He was a terrific golfer in his golden days and wanted so badly for me to carry on that for him. Although I ruined every golf course I stepped on because I couldn't hit the ball to save my life but I could hit the patch of grass. I have many of those moments I've been finding myself thinking about randomly and laughing out loud. I will miss him but golfing once a year in his honor will be where I feel the closest to him.

I'll never forget when I called Tom because I had ended the semester with a 4.0 and he treated me too fat heads and we had beers with blueberries in them.
