Harry was such an imp in high school! A vivid memory involves \"religion class\" sophomore or junior year. Harry was the reel-to-reel projectionist for one of the many movies we were shown (in a futile attempt to make us better humans) in class. One day, in a full conspiracy to torment the nun teaching the class, Harry ran the movie in reverse. We all sat attentively, hiding our internal hysterics. It took our teacher a full 7 minutes or more to comprehend what was happening. Pretty sure she left the convent within the next few years. -- D. (Kearney) McFail
